Maltese in Grundtvig Mobility Visit in Wolverhampton,UK

Monday, 16 Jun 2014, 11:41

Between June 6th and 9th, a group of Maltese participated in the 7th and final Grundtvig Mobility visit within the "European Partnership on Adult Education and Mobility for Social Inclusion (EPAEMSI)" project, co-funded by the European Commission through the Lifelong Learning Programme in Wolverhampton (United Kingdom).

This event was hosted by Engage Youth Empowerment Services (EYES), an organisation catering for socio-economically disadvantaged youth, aiming to keep them away from the streets and getting into gangs through various youth activities.

The Maltese delegation included Annabelle Cauchi from the Deaf People Association, Sarah Agius – the interpreter from Sign Language Interpreter Service, Teshai Wayne from Young Women Christian Association and the group leaders Thelma Bonello and Rodianne Cassar from Malta UNESCO Youth Association.

The two-year European partnership project concluded in Wolverhampton aimed at using the experience of the seven partner organisations on social inclusion and active participation of adult learners from disadvantaged social groups in order to promote and improve social inclusion through education, in particular non-formal and informal education. The host organisation welcomed adult learners from disadvantaged social groups from Malta, Spain, Poland, Romania, Slovenia, Italy and the United Kingdom.

During the mobility visit in Wolverhampton, the participants took part in a series of activities focussed on social inclusion through education. The event kicked off with the presentation of the hosting organisation and its main projects and was then followed by the simulation of the best practice of the hosting organisation: "the theatre of the oppressed".
