Ruth's Testimonial:

"This experience impacted my life personally, academically and professionally. I also had the opportunity to improve my French and learn more about francophone culture since Brussels is a French speaking city. I was also lucky enough to work in a friendly environment with a fantastic team. All in all this training mobility had a very strong impact on the pedagogical approach of our school. Training projects like this enable lecturers like myself to acquire new learning and teaching methods and tools and explore a variety of learning and teaching practice across Europe.

I was extremely looking forward to the experience. I chose to go because mobilities like this one prove to be always fruitful and very interesting

The highlight of the trip were the French classes that were geared towards tourism management and all had a vocational scenario. Thanks to observing these classes, I acquired new teaching methods in the classroom and I also feel that my classroom management skills have improved. I now have a wider range of teaching approaches and methods to choose from.

The worst moments were the bad weather I encountered during this particular cold week in Brussels.

[To anyone thinking about going on a similar experience, I say] Go for it."
